

An illustration depicting a scene at night. Three men are shown in the foreground, dressed in traditional robes. The man in the center, wearing an orange robe and a green headband, holds a black staff and looks towards the right. Behind him, a man in a brown robe points towards the sky, and another man in a yellow robe stands to the left. In the background, a flock of white sheep is gathered on a green hillside. A small, glowing yellow structure is visible on the right, set against a dark blue night sky filled with numerous yellow stars of varying sizes. The overall style is simple and illustrative.

Gloire à Dieu, gloire à Dieu
au plus haut des cieux !

